

LIFE

SPACE TRAVEL

Difficult Weightlessness

An American book authoress thought over the dear life of future space tourists.

Everyone who is interested in space has wondered, at least once, what it may be like and if anyone has 'done it.' writes Laura S. Woodmansee in the Introduction of her new book Sex In Space (C. G. Publishing). With it "means it: Sex in the universe. The largest obstacle with Sex in weightlessness would be beside space illness and restrained conditions weightlessness. Woodmansee investigated, as one could realize its desire despite weightlessness in the universe. As in the picture for example one should the partner is somewhere fixed here, in order not to float uncontrolled by the area. Woodmansee means, some humans would have doubts to let be bound - nevertheless the special conditions in the universe could serve as good excuse, in order to try it out times.

Neither of the Nasa yet of the Russian space agency, official Statements would be to got whether it would have ever official or private sexual intercourse in a spaceship gegben. The Nasa let nevertheless 1992 a married couple with the Spaceshuttle Endeavour in that all. Also at that time it gave had granted rumors, the remaining Crew both a little privacy in the connected Spacelab attainable only over a tunnel. The largest hindrance in sex in weightlessness would be next to room illness and cramped ratios the weightlessness itself. For each contact gives the partner a Ikeinen impulse, that conveys it at the other end of the room, even if one would like to cause actually the opposite. Woodmansee researched, all enjoy life could its desire like one in spite of weightlessness in that: 1 If the participants of one another do not want to embrace with arms and legs, they could take an elastic Jüftband to the aid, that holds together the decisive body parties. 2 At least one of the partners should be fixed somewhere in order to float not uncontrolled by the area. 3 The same principle, only must hold itself here one of the partners somewhere.

For Sex outside the gravitational pull of the earth one needs something to hold onto.

How the Russian space agency wanted this problem some years ago solving, is unknown. According to Woodmansees investigation, it planned at that time to earn me with a Pornodreh on board that meanwhile sunk another little money. One must overcome snobbery if it concerns dozens of millions of dollars, General Director Jurij Koptev said the at that time. Yet the actors completed the cosmonaut training for nothing: The film production firm could only raise 7 of the demanded 23 million US dollars.